

Power & Tech

Powered by Achilles

In a world of increasingly complex supply chains, we know that you need confidence in who you are subcontracting to.

Having assurance in your supply chain and being able to access supplier information more effectively are essential advantages in the growing services industry.

And with more than 25 years' experience in this field, when it comes to ensuring you have a transparent and accountable supply chain we're the name to trust.

Achilles Power & Tech is a prequalification service that:

- Helps Power & Tech companies manage risk and comply with regulations
- Allows suppliers to promote their product and service offering to community buyers
- Verifies other critical financial and company information

Achilles also guarantees:

- A thorough validation of supplier data before it is shared with you
- Supplier audits are conducted using industry recognised protocols
- You get a clear understanding of how your suppliers are complying with legislation

This is the right solution for you when:

- You operate in the global Industrial Manufacturing sector
- You need to verify health and safety, environmental, quality management and corporate social responsibility compliance
- You want peace of mind and assurance that supplier information is up to date and, where necessary, verified through an independent audit

We offer your suppliers:

- Competitive global pricing model based on the number of product codes selected and region of operation
- Benchmarking and improvement practical advice and feedback
- Accreditation for high risk suppliers under the audit service
