For three decades, Achilles has been helping the North Sea oil and gas industry evolve

The last 30 years have seen big changes to North Sea oil and gas supply chains. Fragmentation, price fluctuations, technological advances and market newcomers have combined to drastically change the way buyers and suppliers work together.

Our FPAL and Achilles JQS communities are the biggest communities of buyers and suppliers operating in the North Sea and have been at the forefront of innovation in the sector.

For three decades, Achilles has been helping the North Sea oil and gas industry evolve

The last 30 years have seen big changes to North Sea oil and gas supply chains. Fragmentation, price fluctuations, technological advances and market newcomers have combined to drastically change the way buyers and suppliers work together.

Our FPAL and Achilles JQS communities are the biggest communities of buyers and suppliers operating in the North Sea and have been at the forefront of innovation in the sector.

Achilles JQS is used as an official qualification system in line with EU regulations in Norway, and from January 2019 has adopted the NORSOK S-WA-006N:2018 standard to enable industry compliance.

Achilles FPAL and Achilles JQS help buyers and suppliers create better supply chains.
